Creighton admits qualified students, hires qualified employees, and accepts patients for treatment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability, marital status, sexual orientation, or veteran status. Its education and employment policies, scholarship and loan programs, clinical treatment program, and other programs and activities are administered without unlawful discrimination. The School and the University are taking affirmative action to employ and advance in employment qualified disabled veterans and veterans of the Vietnam-era. The University Affirmative Action Director has been delegated the responsibility for coordinating the University’s equal rights efforts. It is also the policy of the School and the University to make all programs and services available to individuals with disabilities.
